Nick Ivezaj is a Partner in the Corporate Practice and a member of the Firm's Air Transportation Industry Group.

Mr. Ivezaj's practice is concentrated in the areas of commercial aircraft sales, acquisitions, leasing and finance.

Mr. Ivezaj has represented many U.S. and non-U.S. commercial airlines and commercial aircraft lessors in variously structured transactions relating to the purchase, sale, leasing and/or financing of new and used commercial aircraft. These include transactions on behalf of airlines for financing the purchase of new aircraft from aircraft manufacturers. His experience extends to cross-border financing and leasing of U.S. and non-U.S. registered and operated aircraft and engine assets.

Mr. Ivezaj received his B.A. degree in accounting from Michigan State University in 1997. He earned his J.D. degree, cum laude, from Mercer Law School in 2000, where he was the editor-in-chief of the Mercer Law Review.
