

David C. Newman

Partner | Atlanta

dnewman@sgrlaw.com

Tel: 404-815-3516

Fax: 404-685-6816

Areas of Practice

Arbitration | Mediation | Securities Enforcement | Securities Litigation | Foreign Corrupt Practices Act | Litigation/Trial Practice | Antitrust and Trade Regulation

David C. Newman is a Partner in the Litigation Practice of Smith, Gambrell & Russell, LLP.

Mr. Newman has particular expertise in complex business litigation, including antitrust and securities litigation, director and officer liability and shareholder derivative litigation. He has extensive jury trial and arbitration experience.

Mr. Newman has represented large clients in multiple antitrust cases, including both defendants and plaintiffs. Mr. Newman has also represented directors and officers for more than 25 years in the context of shareholder derivative and securities claims. He has also represented special investigative board committees, as well as directors and officers investigated by such committees.

Mr. Newman is also involved in securities class actions and other shareholder-related litigation such as derivative claims and dissenter's rights actions. He also has substantial experience in many other areas of complex business litigation.

A native of New York, Mr. Newman received his B.S., cum laude, in economics and political science from The American University in 1979. He earned his J.D., with honors, in 1982 from the University of Tennessee, serving as the Research Editor of the Tennessee Law Review and a member of the Jessup International Law Moot Court Team. Mr. Newman is admitted to practice in Georgia and has practiced extensively in courts across the nation.

He is active in the Atlanta community, having served on the Board of Directors of several non-profit and youth organizations.

Continued

Experience

- The successful representation of the CFO and other officers of a publicly traded company in a large securities case involving allegations of accounting and other fraud. The case was litigated in the Northern District of Alabama.
- The successful representation of officers and directors in securities claims involving fraud allegations in connection with publicly traded companies in the Northern District of Georgia.
- The successful representation of former officers and other employees against claims of breach of fiduciary duty and other claims in connection with their start-up company. The case was litigated in the Northern District of Georgia.

Admissions

Georgia